GUIDELINES FOR PERIODIC REVIEW OF PROGRAMMES

Objective

The objectives of Periodic Review are to confirm:

- the continuing validity and relevance of the programme.
- the continuing appropriateness of its academic standards.
- the continuing high quality of learning opportunities, and to consider the programme team's proposals and plans for the development of the programme and the further enhancement of its quality.

This procedure is designed to ensure that the RVC meets the Office for Students ongoing conditions for registration, and the UK Quality Code for Higher Education.

Scope

Periodic Review applies to all programmes including Professional Doctorates, except for the MPhil/PhD. Periodic Review also includes programmes which run under the auspices of the University of London Worldwide. Periodic Review applies to collaborative programmes, with the

Schedule of Periodic Reviews

The Periodic Review of a non-accredited programme normally takes place every six years, with an interim review* occurring three years after. PSRB accredited programmes undergo Periodic Review in the twenty-four months leading up to the next accreditation visit. PSRB accredited programmes do not have an interim review.

The following schedule of reviews is subject to change.
